

INFORMATION ON REGISTRATION, STIPENDS, AND TUITION FOR SUMMER 2021 REMINGTON CENTER STUDENTS

4/21

Summer Registration and Credits

The 11-week summer program will contain a single enrollment section, with each student enrolling for five credits (except CLASP, which registers for 6, or if you are in a different project but have agreed upon an increase in credits with your supervising attorney) in a section associated with their specific clinic. The 11-week session will start on Tuesday, June 1st.

During the summer, in addition to credits received, students will also receive a stipend of approximately $2,500. The stipend will be paid bi-weekly starting June 17, 2021, and ending July 29, 2021.

Specific Registration Instructions

For the 11-week intersession, the course listings are not yet set, but will look something like "854-ABC Clinical Program: CLINIC NAME." You will register in your specific clinic's section for five credits (except CLASP, which registers for 6, or if you are in a different project but have agreed upon an increase in credits with your supervising attorney)

These summer courses are "consent of instructor" courses. As soon as able, we will send a final list of accepted students to the Law School's main office for authorization in the registration system. Accepted students should be authorized to register on-line for the summer courses by late April. If you have any trouble registering, please email Remington Center staff at fjrc@law.wisc.edu. Please register for courses as soon as you are able.

Fall Registration and Credits

As the “course requirements” sheet indicates, all summer students are expected to continue into the fall and spring semesters (with the exception of CLASP). The fall clinical courses are also “consent of instructor” courses. Because we will not have a final list of accepted students until into May, we have not yet authorized students to register for fall clinical credits. We will authorize students for fall credits at the same time we authorize students for summer credits.

You should be authorized to register for fall credits shortly. Specific registration information for each project—including course titles, numbers, and credits—is listed below.

We do not require you to pre-register at this time for your fall clinical courses. You may wish to wait so that you can talk in the summer with your supervising attorney about exactly how many credits to register for. However, you may want to register no later than mid-summer in order to be sure that you are eligible for fall financial aid. In the meantime, be assured that, as a continuing clinical student, you will be authorized to register for fall clinical credits.

In planning your fall schedule, you should assume that you will be working at least the minimum number of hours (4 hours/credit/week) specified for the clinical project you are enrolled in. During the fall, students in some projects may also be expected to participate in a weekly small group meeting during the fall.

Course title, credits, call numbers:

Note: You will be notified of the appropriate call numbers once the Fall 2021 course schedule is posted.

LAIP students: You should register for Law 854 sec. TBD (LAIP) in the fall. You should register for a minimum of 6 credits spread over the fall and spring semester with 3 credits in fall and 3 credits in the spring. This balance can be adjusted in consultation with your supervising attorney.

Wisconsin Innocence Project students: In the fall semester, you should register for Law 854, sec. TBD (Clinical Program Wisconsin Innocence Project) (4 credits). In the spring semester, you should register for Law 854, sec. TBD (Clinical Program Wisconsin Innocence Project) (3 credits).

Restorative Justice Project students: You should register for Law 854, sec. TBD (Clinical Program Restorative Justice Project). You should register for 3-4 clinical credits in the fall semester and 3-4 credits in the spring semester.

Oxford Project students: You should register for Law 854, sec. TBD (Clinical Program Oxford Federal Project), in the fall. You should register for as many clinical credits as you agreed with your supervising attorney for a minimum of 4 credits, with a minimum of 2 credits in fall and 2 credits in the spring.

Summer Stipends

All summer 2021 students, both residents and nonresidents, will receive an appointment as a part-time project assistant (PA) for the months of June and July. Each student will receive a stipend for the PA-ship, which is considered income to the student. In other words, part of your work is as an employed PA, while the remainder is as an enrolled student.

Based upon the current PA salary rate, we anticipate that the total stipend for the summer will be approximately $2,500. The PA stipend will be divided into bi-weekly paychecks as discussed above.

We have produced a separate information sheet on financial aid for summer clinical students. Among other things, this information sheet explains the interaction between the PA-ship and summer financial aid.

Summer Tuition and Fees

Because you will be appointed as Project Assistants for the summer session, you will receive a full remission of summer school tuition.

University segregated fees are not included in the tuition remission. Thus, you will be required to pay back segregated fees to the University. For summer 2021, the segregated fee assessment has not been set; it will likely be around $300.
