The Wisconsin International Law Journal is pleased to announce its annual symposium:

A Comparative Perspective on Social Justice Lawyering in Asia: Conditions, Practices, & Possibilities

The symposium gathers leading practitioners and academics studying law practice in Asia to explore what social justice advocacy means across a range of countries and contexts, how it is organized and practiced, what role local and global institutions play in shaping possibilities for transformative legal advocacy, and how such advocacy, in turn, may reshape institutions.

April 12, 2013
Room 2260, University of Wisconsin Law School
975 Bascom Mall, Madison WI 53706
CLE Credit for WI Attorneys pending

Keynote Speaker: Prof. Andrew Harding, National University of Singapore

Panelists / Paper Writers:
Louise Trubek, University of Wisconsin Law School
Frank Munger, New York University Law School
Scott Cummings, UCLA Law School
Nicholas Cheesman, Australian National University
Cynthia Farid, NGO Lawyer, Bangladesh
John Givens, Oxford University, U.K.
Shanmuga Kanesalingam, Private Practitioner, Malaysia
Kyaw Min San, Burma
Jothie Rajah, UC-Berkeley
Jennifer Rasmusson, American Bar Association
Harry L. Roque Jr., Private Practitioner, Philippines
Arun Thiruvengadam, National University of Singapore
Duean Wongsa, NGO Project Director, Thailand

Sponsors:
East Asian Legal Studies Center
Global Legal Studies Center
Institute for Legal Studies
Associated Students of Madison
UW Law School

For speaker bios, schedule and to register, visit: www.law.wisc.edu/wilj/

Questions? Please contact Kyle Engelke (kengelke@wisc.edu) or David Groose (dgroose@wisc.edu)